Hedberg Supply Awards Showroom Showdown Contest Prize to Meriwether, Inc.

December 3, 2015, Plymouth, MN

Hedberg Supply, the Twin Cities' top landscape and masonry supplier, has announced Meriwether Felt, AIA, of Meriwether, Inc. as the winner of its Showroom Showdown contest, which kicked off August 14 at the Masonry Selection Center located in Plymouth. The "Showroom Showdown" invited architects, designers, builders, masons and landscape contractors to bring their clients to the Selection Center for product selections. Each completed selection sheet constituted an entry in a drawing for a winter vacation for two in one of two popular destinations.

Founder and president Steve Hedberg will personally deliver the award certificate to Ms. Felt. "We are very grateful to all our professional customers who participated in our contest and encouraged more visits to our showroom," said Mr. Hedberg. "I initially said that our showroom supports you in fulfilling your clients' needs, and this certainly proved to be true for Meriwether, Inc."

"I feel that relationships are the most critical thing in this industry," Ms. Felt said. "I need to be able to rely on other people in a given project. My clients were well taken care of at the Selection Center and it was a seamless, painless experience for them. I look forward to engaging Hedberg for future masonry projects." Meriwether, Inc. specializes in residential design projects across the United States and is the winner of numerous awards, including several COTY and Chrysalis regional and national awards. As the winner, Ms. Felt and a companion will be treated to a vacation in Palm Springs, California at the Ritz-Carlton.

The winning selection sheet was for an exterior natural stone masonry project. The product chosen was a Nyx Mountain Blend to be used for a front porch. The homeowners finalized the selection in early November. The builder for the project is Randy Hobbs of Residential Renewal in St. Louis Park (www.resrenewal.com).
